OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

Thursday - 12 January 1967

25X1 1. [ ] Russ Blandford, House Armed Services Committee staff, called to express his concern about the situation in the Bahamas and asked for an analysis of the recent election. He stated his sources inform him we may have another Cuban situation. He specifically referred to indigenous types beginning to buy whiskey with $50 bills, the implication being that someone had poured money into the elections. I indicated we would pull together some material for him for first thing in the morning.

25X1 2. [ ] Met with Mr. J. R. Blandford, House Armed Services Committee, who advised that the Committee will not be organized probably before next Tuesday. In consequence, the Chairman will not attempt to schedule any meetings before that time.

Also met with Mr. Phil Kelleher, who requested advice for the Chairman on an article from American Opinion concerning the loss of the six French Mystere IV aircraft in Spain last year.

25X1 3. [ ] Met with Colonel Hal Gould, House Science and Astronautics Committee, who advised that the Chairman of the Subcommittee, Representative Daddario, is in the hospital for a checkup. He wanted to advise me, however, that an item appearing in the January 12 issue of Space Daily, Page 50, sets forth that the Soviet Deputy Chairman of the State Committee for Science and Technology, Dr. Dzherman M. Gvishiani, who is an invitee to the Committee's Science Panel Meeting, January 24 - 26, "has been identified by a CIA source" as a suspected spy. Colonel Gould noted that the invitations had been approved by the Department of State.

25X1 [ ] has been advised.
